1. Description

4D Systems 4D Programming Cable is a USB to Serial TTL converter cable, used to program both Firmware/PmmC's and user application code into the range of 4D Systems' modules.

The use of the 4D Programming Cable is required when programming 4D System modules. Use of a 3rd party programming cable could damage your module, and therefore use of any programming cable or device other than those supplied from 4D Systems is discouraged and will void your warranty.
